Executive Director’s Corner

A VISION FOR THE FUTURE OF CCEE

In Simon Sinek’s most recent book, The Infinite Game, he describes the reasons why systems and organizations fail. Organizations that fail use infinite language but play a finite game, meaning they have their sights focused on the scoreboard instead of the vision. Organizations like Kodiak and Blackberry ultimately described a vision that was anchored to a scoreboard, and inevitably failed to sustain innovation for the long haul. My friend and educator Gary Waddle recently said, “The Infinite Game captures the essence of effective teams doing the work that matters!”

And that is ultimately what CCEE envisions for the future. CCEE wants to help our educational partners do the work that matters. If we are going to make a difference, our educational community must come together to identify an infinite vision that is focused on improving equitable educational outcomes for all of California’s students. Over the last two months, our team has been reflecting on our organizational mission, vision, values, and goals. We are currently in the process of finalizing a new mission statement that supports our state agency charge and meets the needs of our educational community. We are also in the midst of refining our vision statement and restructuring our organization to promote an infinite-minded focus and identity. We look forward to sharing our work with you in the November edition of our newsletter.

This month’s newsletter will feature tools, strategies, and resources to reimagine how we engage families to improve student outcomes.

Sincerely,
Matt J. Navo

TRANSFORMING FAMILY-SCHOOL PARTNERSHIPS TO IMPROVE STUDENT OUTCOMES

Like many other school districts, Cajon Valley Union School District has adapted the way they interact with and support families over the past year. Using their lessons learned, the district is finding successful new ways to partner with families, support student learning, and empower parent liaisons. Watch these short 2- to 5-minute videos to learn how Cajon Valley USD is transforming the way families participate in advancing their child’s learning through its Family-Teacher Teams—a twist on WestEd’s Academic Parent-Teacher Teams (APTT).

APTT is a research-based model of family engagement that aligns grade-level learning concepts, student performance data, and family-teacher communication and collaboration to maximize student learning inside and outside of school. Click here to learn how your school can start engaging in a collaborative process with your students’ families to accelerate student learning!
THE COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT INITIATIVE’S SIX-PART SERIES

We invite you to learn more about how 12 California school districts in the Community Engagement Initiative (CEI) are addressing the needs of stakeholders in their communities by using the Root Cause Analysis of Student & Family Engagement. This six-part series invites two districts each week to share their journeys in addressing one of the following 6 Core Root Causes of Ineffective Community Engagement:

1. Lack of belief that the system’s success is critically dependent on its relationships with students & families
2. Lack of belief in students & families as experts
3. Lack of committed and consistent district & school leaders
4. Lack of understanding and expertise around highly effective student & family engagement
5. Lack of inclusivity based on race & culture
6. Systems/tools are not made to be community-friendly

Viewers will learn about strategies, structures, practices, policies, and procedures these districts have adopted to more effectively engage their local communities in support of improving student outcomes. Episodes I-III are now available!

• Episode I - Prioritizing Relationships (Bakersfield City SD & Pajaro Valley USD)
• Episode II - Students & Families as Experts (Chino Valley USD & Salinas UHSD)
• Episode III - Leadership Commitment (Moreno Valley USD & Santa Ana USD)

UP NEXT: Episode IV will be released on October 14, 2021, in which Parlier USD and Val Verde USD will be addressing the lack of understanding and expertise around highly effective student and family engagement. All episodes can be found on the CEI website.

Get to Know the CEE Team!

Each month, we will be featuring spotlights on some of our CEE team members to share a snapshot of who they are and what they do!

Erik Swanson, Senior Advisor, Direct Technical Assistance

Erik is passionate about servant leadership and supporting the “underdog”. In his Senior Advisor role, he is proud to work on an amazing team providing support to the teams of Inglewood USD, Oakland USD, and Salinas UHSD. As a #GirlDad, there isn’t anything more important than spending time laughing and going on adventures with his family. And as a classic car enthusiast, you can find Erik with his wife Frances on a Sunday drive with the top down in his 1965 Mercury Comet Caliente.

Gonzalo Avila, Senior Manager, Instructional Systems & Innovation

Gonzalo works collaboratively with districts to identify effective practices that are strongly rooted around Theory of Action. Gonzalo used to raise Birmingham roller pigeons when he was in high school.

Nhi Hang, Administrative Assistant

Nhi provides administrative support for the team to ensure things run as smoothly as possible. With her experience as an elementary & special education teacher, and an Ed.D. candidate whose research focuses on equitable education for refugee students, she provides valuable insight to the team! Nhi will never turn down a game of UNO.

ABOUT THE CCEE
