

Data Academy (2024-25)

CCEE launched the Data Academy as a pilot initiative in the 2024-25 school year to strengthen data capacity among K-12 education professionals across the state. The Data Academy offered two free courses tailored to different roles within local educational agencies (LEAs). The Data Literacy course supported analysts who were new to working with K-12 data, while the Data Leadership course served emerging data leaders looking to build a data-driven culture to drive instructional change.

On average, across both courses, participants strongly agreed or agreed that...
